Jenny Rose Carey is a renowned gardener, educator, historian, author, and former director of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society’s Meadowbrook Farm in Jenkintown, PA. She previously worked at Temple University as adjunct professor in the Department of Landscape Architecture and Horticulture and as director of its Ambler Arboretum. An avid, hands-on gardener in both England and the United States, Jenny Rose has lectured nationally and internationally. Her Victorian property, Northview, includes a shade garden, moss garden, and a stumpery. She will offer us a visual tour of Northview, which has been featured on PBS, and in the Wall Street Journal, Philadelphia Inquirer, Green Scene magazine, and Pennsylvania Gardener.

All are welcome!
